Human Interface
of the Year

Your world, made simple.

Enhance the way you experience your home with premium and personalized home control and automation from ELAN. See inside to learn about the many benefits of your home's smart-home standard and upgrade options.

Your home's lighting, climate, security, music, entertainment and more – easily accessible with one simple to use app, personalized to your lifestyle, intuitive to your needs and integrated with your daily activities. The ELAN Entertainment and Control System in your new smart home brings this power and convenience to you.

Your world, made simple

Think of the things you do to get ready in the morning: turn on the lights, check the weather and traffic reports, maybe even turn on the morning news. Your ELAN system delivers your world at a glance with a personalized dashboard for your home, customized with the things you use most such as weather forecasts, camera video, lighting, even security system features. With ELAN it's all about you.

Connect and Communicate

With two-way audio and video, ELAN Intercom dramatically changes how you communicate with the world. Answer the door with your mobile phone from anywhere in the world. Page into the home from away as well.

Music and Entertainment

What if your entertainment systems worked the same in every room and did not require a table full of remotes? ELAN gives you unmatched convenience for enjoying your music, movies and entertainment from a single, elegant remote or your favorite mobile device.

Climate and Comfort

Keep your home perfectly comfortable all day and night. ELAN responds to your preferences, controlling your thermostat, lighting and shades for perfect comfort when you are home, and conserving energy when you're away.

Be Secure, Always

ELAN can integrate your security system's intelligence to better protect your investment and your family. It can send email alerts to your smart phone and allows you to remotely arm or disarm the system.

Lighting

If part of your bedtime ritual involves going from room to room checking the lights, you will quickly appreciate your new ELAN system. A simple touch can quickly turn them all off, or set the perfect party mood for the entire home. Save energy by dimming lights, managing shades and creating custom lighting schedules. Plus, remote access ensures you always arrive to a well-lighted home.

Surveillance

Whether you're checking on your home while away or simply wondering who is at the front door, nothing gives you peace of mind like having this information at your fingertips; and best of all, you can view the same live video from your home, office, or anywhere in the world on your mobile device.

Here, There... Anywhere

Wherever you are, your ELAN system puts you in total control of your new smart home, with one easy-to-use interface on a wide variety of devices, from handheld remotes to optional in-wall touchpads, or even your mobile device for when you're away from home.

Your world,
made simple.
